

ADVANCED CREATES HIGHLY SECURED INTERACTIVE MEETING AND INTERROGATION ROOMS FOR CRA

CANADA REVENUE AGENCY

ABOUT CANADA REVENUE AGENCY

The Canada Revenue Agency (CCRA) is a federal agency that administers tax laws for the Government of Canada and for most provinces and territories. The CCRA also administers international trade legislation, and various social and economic benefit and incentive programs delivered through the tax system.

THE OPPORTUNITY

The Canada Revenue Agency required an AV solutions partner to provide state-of-the-art equipment and services that would achieve a high level of security in their Ontario offices. The large installation needed to equip many rooms, including boardrooms, training, meeting, and interrogation rooms.

THE ADVANCED SOLUTION

Since Advanced has been providing innovative AV solutions to the CRA since 2001, the two worked together again to design unique and dynamic solutions that would meet the specific needs of each room. Advanced came up with a collaborative approach that would connect CRA users and allow them to communicate more effectively, without compromising strict security measures. Since each location houses highly restricted spaces, the CRA asked Advanced to design a solution that would allow office activity to be monitored. Advanced provided and installed zoom and tilt security cameras and video recording systems to achieve the desired level of security. SMART Interactive Whiteboards, video conferencing and audio systems, and other AV equipment were also installed to enhance CRA's collaboration with both internal and external clients by providing a more interactive meeting environment
